Hi Ed,

I am in full support of the redevelopment plans for the Hanover Crossing plaza. The plaza should offer the opportunity for businesses to thrive, which equates to more stable jobs and more tax dollars available for the town. With how the plaza will be laid out, it has offerings for all in the community – from young to old.

Regarding the residential portion, I believe it will be a huge contributing factor to the overall improvement of the plaza and surrounding area. The new residents situated in the Hanover Crossing will provide viable clients for current businesses, as well as attract the right new businesses looking to come into the town. Top of the line residences coming into town should make Hanover a more attractive town for young professional working families to want to move to. These are the types of residents all towns should want to add to their community. Hanover is lucky to have this opportunity in front of them.

Sincerely,
Matt Lanuto
